PRIMARY 5 SOCIAL AND CITIZENSHIP STUDIES LESSON NOTES

WEEK 1: LEADERSHIP I

OBJECTIVES By the end of the lesson, pupils should be able to:

1. Define leadership as the act of guiding others towards a shared goal.
2. List and explain at least three important qualities of a good leader.
3. Identify leaders in their immediate environment: home, school, and community.
4. Explain the concept of "leadership by example" using relatable scenarios.

CONTENT

1. Meaning of Leadership

Leadership is not just being in charge. Think of a captain of a football team. The captain doesn't just wear an armband; they encourage the team, help plan the game, and play hard. Leadership is the ability to guide, direct, and inspire a group of people to work together to achieve a common goal. A leader is like a shepherd who shows the sheep the safe path, not just from the front, but by walking with them.

2. Qualities of a Good Leader

What makes someone a good leader? It's their character. Imagine a Prefect everyone respects. They likely have these qualities:

- Honesty: A good leader tells the truth. If they make a mistake, they admit it. People trust an honest leader. (Example: A Class Monitor who finds a lost pen and returns it to the teacher is being honest).
- Kindness and Fairness: A good leader cares about the people they lead and treats everyone justly. They don't have favorites. (Example: A team captain ensures everyone gets a chance to play, not just the best players).
- Hard Work: A good leader is not lazy. They are ready to do difficult tasks and set a strong example. (Example: A Parent helping with homework after a long day at work).

- Patience: A good leader listens carefully and does not get angry quickly. They understand that people learn and work at different speeds.
- Courage: A good leader is brave enough to do what is right, even when it is difficult or scary. (Example: A pupil telling their friends to stop bullying someone).

3. Types of Leaders in Our Environment

Leaders are everywhere! They have different titles and roles.

- At Home: The father and mother are the leaders of the family. They provide, protect, teach, and make important decisions for the home.
- At School: There is a hierarchy of leaders:
 - Headteacher/Principal: The overall leader of the school.
 - Teachers: Leaders of their individual classes.
 - Prefects (Head Boy/Girl, Class Monitors, etc.): Pupils chosen to help lead their peers.

- In the Community:

- Traditional Rulers: Like the Oba, Emir, Eze, or Obi. They are custodians of culture and tradition.
- Religious Leaders: Like Pastors, Imams, or Priests. They provide spiritual guidance.
- Political Leaders: Like the Local Government Chairman, Councillors, Governor. They make laws and provide services for the community.

4. Leadership by Example

This is the most powerful type of leadership. "Leadership by Example" means a leader shows the correct behavior through their own actions, so others can see and follow. Words are easy, but actions prove what you truly believe.

- Scenario 1: A Headteacher who wants a clean school must not litter. If pupils see the Headteacher picking up a piece of paper, they will do the same.
- Scenario 2: A mother who tells her children to read must also be seen reading books sometimes.
- Key Message: A true leader doesn't say "Do as I say," but "Do as I do."

EVALUATION

1. In your own words, what is leadership? Can you give an example of a leader from your favourite story or movie?
2. Why is honesty a very important quality for a leader like a Class Monitor?
3. Who are the two main leaders in your home? What is one thing they do that shows leadership?
4. If you are the Sports Prefect and you want everyone to come to practice on time, what is the best way to make that happen (Leadership by Example)?
5. True or False: A leader can tell others to work hard while they sit and relax.

ASSIGNMENT

1. (Written) Draw a simple table with two columns. In the first column, list "Home", "School", "Community". In the second column, write the name of one leader in each of those places.
2. (Practical/Oral) At home, ask one of your parents or guardians: "What is the most important quality for a leader to have?" Write down their answer.
3. (Drawing) Draw a comic strip with two panels. Panel 1: A leader telling others to clean up. Panel 2: The same leader picking up litter while others watch and join in.

WEEK 2: LEADERSHIP II

OBJECTIVES By the end of the lesson, pupils should be able to:

1. Identify various leadership positions available to pupils within their school.
2. List and explain the key duties of a Class Prefect/Monitor.
3. Describe the role and responsibilities of the Head Boy or Head Girl.
4. Explain what it means to be a responsible leader in a group project or team.

CONTENT

1. Leadership Positions in School (Pupil Leadership)

Schools are training grounds for future leaders. Pupils are given responsibilities to learn how to lead. Common positions include:

- Head Boy / Head Girl (Senior Prefect): The overall pupil leaders.
- Assistant Head Boy/Girl: Supports the senior prefect.
- Class Prefect/Monitor: The leader of a specific class.
- Subject Prefects: e.g., Mathematics Prefect, English Prefect.
- Duty Prefects:
 - Labour Prefect: Oversees cleaning and environmental duties.
 - Health Prefect: Looks after the sick bay and promotes hygiene.
 - Library Prefect: Manages the school library.
 - Timekeeper: Ensures assembly and classes start on time.
 - Sports Prefect: Leads sports activities.

2. Duties of a Class Prefect (The Classroom Leader)

The Class Prefect is like the captain of the class. Their main job is to help the teacher and maintain order.

- Before Teacher Arrives: Ensure the classroom is tidy and the class is seated quietly.
- During Lesson: Distribute and collect books/materials. Help maintain quiet for learning.
- As a Link: Report important issues from the class to the teacher (e.g., a broken chair, widespread concern).
- Role Model: Be a shining example of punctuality, neatness, and good behavior.

3. Role of the Head Boy/Head Girl (The School Ambassadors)

These are the most senior pupil leaders. They represent the entire student body.

- Representation: They may speak on behalf of all pupils during school events or in meetings with the Headteacher.
- Supervision: They guide and support other prefects in their duties.
- Organization: They help plan and coordinate school assemblies, competitions, and special days.

- Ultimate Role Model: They must exemplify the very best behavior, character, and academic effort of the school.

4. Responsible Leadership in Groups

You don't need a title to be a leader. When working on a group project or playing in a team, you can show responsible leadership by:

- Listening: Value every team member's idea.
- Sharing Work Fairly: Make sure tasks are divided so no one is overburdened. "Let's share the work so it's fun for everyone."
- Encouraging: Motivate your team, especially when they find something difficult. "You can do it! Let's try again."
- Taking Responsibility: If the group makes a mistake, a good leader doesn't just blame others. They say, "We didn't do this well. Let's fix it together."

EVALUATION

1. If you are interested in keeping the school clean, which prefect position should you aim for?
2. Your teacher has to step out of class for five minutes. What should the Class Prefect do?
3. Why is it important for the Head Boy to have excellent behavior?
4. You are the leader of a group making a poster. One member is not drawing well. What is the responsible thing to do? (Choose: A) Do their part for them. B) Laugh at them. C) Encourage them and give them a simpler task like coloring.)
5. True or False: A leader in a group should make all the decisions without asking others.

ASSIGNMENT

1. (Written) Imagine you are running for Class Prefect. Write a short speech (4-5 sentences) telling your classmates why you would be a good leader. Mention one specific duty you would do well.
2. (Practical) Observe your Class Prefect or Head Boy/Girl for one day. Write down one good thing you saw them do that showed leadership.

3. (Drawing) Design a badge or symbol for a new prefect position you think your school should have (e.g., "Kindness Prefect" or "Tech Helper Prefect").

WEEK 3: RESPONSIBILITIES AND SOCIAL JUSTICE I

OBJECTIVES By the end of the lesson, pupils should be able to:

1. Define responsibility as a duty or task one is expected to carry out.
2. Identify personal responsibilities related to self-care and development.
3. List responsibilities they have towards their family and school.
4. Explain accountability as owning up to the results of one's actions.

CONTENT

1. Meaning of Responsibility

Responsibility is a duty or task that you are supposed to do. It is something you are expected to complete because it is right or because it is your job. When you are responsible, people can trust you and rely on you. Think of it as a "job" you have because you are part of a family, a class, or a community.

2. Personal Responsibilities (Duties to Ourselves)

These are the things you must do for yourself to grow up healthy, smart, and good.

- Self-Care: Brushing your teeth twice a day, bathing regularly, keeping your nails clean, and washing your school uniform.
- Self-Development: Doing your homework, studying for tests, reading books to learn new things.
- Self-Management: Waking up on time for school, packing your bag the night before, managing your pocket money wisely.
- Why? Doing these things shows you respect yourself and prepares you for bigger tasks in life.

3. Responsibilities to Family and School

We do not live alone. We have duties to the groups we belong to.

- Responsibilities to Family:

- Chores: Helping with sweeping, washing dishes, fetching water, running errands to the nearby shop.
- Respect: Obeying your parents, greeting elders, speaking politely to siblings.
- Care: Looking after a younger sibling, helping a sick family member.
- Responsibilities to School:
 - Following Rules: Obeying school rules, wearing your uniform correctly.
 - Care for Property: Not writing on desks, handling library books gently, using school facilities properly.
 - Duty to Learn: Paying attention in class, participating actively, striving to do your best.

4. Being Accountable (The Final Part of Responsibility)

Accountability means accepting the consequences of your actions, whether good or bad. It is the most important part of being responsible.

- If you do well: You can proudly accept praise. "I worked hard for that test score."
- If you make a mistake or do wrong: You must admit it, apologize, and try to make it right. You do not lie, hide, or blame someone else.

- Example: If you accidentally break a plate while washing, an accountable person says, "I am sorry, it was an accident. How can I help fix it?" An irresponsible person hides the pieces or says the cat did it.

EVALUATION

1. What is the difference between a "chore" and a "responsibility"? (Hint: All chores are responsibilities, but not all responsibilities are chores).
2. Name two personal responsibilities that help you stay healthy.
3. How is doing your homework a responsibility to both yourself AND your school?
4. You forgot to do a class assignment. Your teacher asks why. What is the accountable thing to say?
5. True or False: It is okay to blame your sibling for a mess you made if you think you won't get punished.

ASSIGNMENT

1. (Written) Create a "My Responsibility Chart" for one WEEK. Make three columns: Personal, Family, School. Each day, write one thing you did in each column.
2. (Practical) Choose one family chore you don't normally do (e.g., setting the table, watering plants). Do it every day this WEEK without being reminded.
3. (Reflection) Write about a time you were accountable for a mistake. What happened, and how did you feel after telling the truth?

WEEK 4: RESPONSIBILITIES AND SOCIAL JUSTICE II

OBJECTIVES By the end of the lesson, pupils should be able to:

1. Define social justice as fair and equal treatment for everyone in society.
2. Explain the concepts of fairness and equality using simple, relatable examples.
3. Identify ways to treat all people with dignity and respect.
4. State what discrimination is and why it is wrong.

CONTENT

1. What is Social Justice?

Imagine a race where one runner has shoes and a clear track, and another has to run barefoot on rocks. That is not fair. Social Justice means creating a society where everyone is treated fairly and has the same basic rights and opportunities. It is about making sure no one is cheated or left behind because of who they are or where they come from.

2. Fairness vs. Equality These two ideas work together for justice.

- Fairness (Equity): This means giving people what they need to be successful, which might not always be the same thing.
 - Example: In class, a teacher might give more help to a pupil struggling with reading. That is fair, even though it's not equal time for everyone.
 - Example: A pupil on crutches gets to use the elevator instead of the stairs. That is fair.
- Equality: This means treating everyone the same way under the same rules.
 - Example: Every child, boy or girl, has the right to go to school. That is equality of opportunity.
 - Example: The rule "No fighting" applies to every single pupil equally.

Equality

Fairness/Equity

3. Treating Everyone with Respect

Social justice starts with how we treat individuals every day.

- Respect for Differences: Do not mock or exclude someone because of their tribe (e.g., Hausa, Igbo, Yoruba), religion, physical ability, or how rich/poor they are.
- Basic Manners: Use polite words like "please," "thank you," and "excuse me" to everyone—the security guard, the food vendor, the cleaner—not just to teachers.
- Listening: Let others speak without interrupting. Their opinions matter too.
- Standing Up for Others: If you see someone being teased or bullied, tell a teacher or kindly ask the bully to stop.

4. Standing Against Discrimination

Discrimination is the unfair and prejudicial treatment of people based on their belonging to a particular group (like their gender, ethnicity, or religion). It is the opposite of social justice.

- Examples of Discrimination: Saying "girls can't be good at football," refusing to play with someone from a different state, or a shopkeeper treating a poorly-dressed customer badly.
- Why We Must Stand Against It: Discrimination hurts people, creates division, and is against the law and our values as Nigerians. Our national motto is "Unity and Faith, Peace and Progress." Discrimination destroys unity and peace.
- What You Can Do: Be a friend to everyone. Challenge unfair jokes or statements. Report serious bullying to an adult.

EVALUATION

1. What does social justice aim to create in a society?
2. Your friend forgot their pencil. You have two. Is it equal to keep both? Is it fair to lend them one? Explain.
3. How can you show respect to the school cleaner?
4. What is discrimination? Give one example you might see in school.
5. True or False: It is okay to only be friends with people who look exactly like you.

ASSIGNMENT

1. (Written) Design a "Respect Pledge" for your class. Write 3-4 promises about how you will treat each other (e.g., "We promise to listen when others are speaking").
2. (Art/Poster) Create a poster with the message: "Different but Equal: One Nigeria". Decorate it with symbols of different Nigerian cultures (e.g., a calabash, a northern cap, an igbo hat).
3. (Oral Discussion) At home, talk to your family about a time they felt treated unfairly or saw someone else treated unfairly. What happened? (You do not need to write this down, just discuss).

WEEK 5 & 6 MIDTERM EXAMINATION AND BREAK

WEEK 7: COMMUNITY MOBILIZATION I

OBJECTIVES By the end of the lesson, pupils should be able to:

1. Define community mobilization as people coming together for a common goal.
2. Explain why unity and cooperation are necessary for community development.
3. List examples of projects a community can undertake by itself.
4. State the importance and benefits of communal labor.

CONTENT

1. Meaning of Community Mobilization

Have you ever seen your neighbours all come out on a Saturday morning to clean the street drain or clear bushes? That is community mobilization in action! Community Mobilization is the process of bringing the people living in an area together to discuss, plan, and work as a team to solve a common problem or achieve a shared goal. It is people power for development.

2. The Purpose: "Together We Achieve More"

A single person cannot build a road or dig a borehole. But when a whole community unites, great things happen. People come together to:

- Discuss problems affecting everyone (e.g., no clean water, bad road, heaps of refuse).
- Plan how to solve the problem.
- Contribute resources (money, materials, time, and labor).
- Work together to implement the plan.

3. Examples of Community Projects

When a community mobilizes, it can achieve projects that make life better for all, sometimes without waiting for the government. Examples include:

- Environmental Sanitation: Organizing a monthly clean-up of markets, streets, and gutters.

- Provision of Amenities: Contributing money to dig a borehole for clean water or install solar street lights.
- Infrastructure Development: Repairing a broken bridge, grading a muddy road, or building a community town hall or health clinic.
- Security: Organizing a neighbourhood watch to patrol the area at night.

4. The Importance of Working Together (Communal Labour)

There is a wise saying: "Unity is strength." Another one goes, "A broomstick alone is weak, but many broomsticks tied together are strong and cannot be broken easily."

- Benefits of Working Together:
 - Faster Completion: Many hands make light work. A big job gets done quickly.
 - Cost-Effective: People volunteer their time and skills, saving money.
 - Stronger Community: Working side-by-side builds friendship, trust, and a sense of shared ownership. People care more for what they built together.
 - Empowerment: It shows the community they have the power to change their own lives.

BEFORE

EVALUATION

1. What is the main idea behind community mobilization?
2. Why can't one person usually complete a big community project alone?
3. Name a project your own community (street or village) could mobilize to do.
4. Complete this proverb: "Many hands make ____ work."
5. How does working together on a project make a community stronger, besides just finishing the work?

ASSIGNMENT

1. (Research/Written) Interview a parent or elder in your community. Ask them: "Can you tell me about one project this community did by coming together?" Write down 3 sentences about what the project was.
2. (Practical) With permission, team up with 2-3 neighbours (children) and clean the front of your houses or a small common area. Write one sentence about how it felt to work together.
3. (Drawing) Draw a picture showing people in your community doing different jobs during a clean-up (e.g., someone sweeping, someone carrying a bag of trash, someone providing water).

WEEK 8: COMMUNITY MOBILIZATION II

OBJECTIVES By the end of the lesson, pupils should be able to:

1. Describe the important role young people (youths) play in community development.
2. Explain what happens in a community Town Hall meeting.
3. Identify ways communities raise funds (money) for projects.
4. List long-term benefits of successful community mobilization.

CONTENT

1. The Role of Youth in Community Development

Young people are the backbone and energy of any community. Their role is crucial:

- Physical Labour: They provide the strength for tasks like digging, carrying blocks, cutting grass, and clearing drains.
- Mobilization and Communication: They can spread information quickly, using their social networks and energy to get others involved.
- Innovation: They often bring new ideas, like using social media to organize clean-ups or suggesting creative solutions.
- Volunteerism: They can volunteer for community security patrols (vigilante) or teach younger children during holidays.

2. Community Town Hall Meetings

This is where mobilization is planned. A Town Hall meeting is a formal gathering where all community members are invited to discuss issues.

- Who Leads? Community leaders (traditional rulers, elders, elected officials) chair the meeting.
- What Happens?
 - a. The problem is presented (e.g., "Our health centre has no roof").
 - b. People discuss openly. Everyone can suggest ideas.
 - c. A decision is made democratically (e.g., "We will build a new roof").

- d. Plans are made: How will we do it? Who will do what? How much money is needed?
- It is a practical lesson in democracy and participation.

3. Fundraising for Community Projects

Projects need money for materials (cement, nails, pipes). Communities raise funds through:

- Levies: Each household or working adult is asked to contribute a fixed, small amount of money.
- Donations: Wealthier individuals or companies in or from the community are approached for larger contributions.
- Fundraising Events: Organizing a launching/dinner, cultural day, or football competition where people buy tickets or donate.
- Government Support: Sometimes, the community can present their plan to local government officials to request support or matching funds.

4. Lasting Benefits of Mobilization

The results go beyond the finished project:

- Sustainable Development: The community learns to solve its own problems, reducing over-dependence on government.
- Pride and Ownership: People feel proud of what they built and are more likely to protect and maintain it.
- Peace and Unity: Working together breaks down barriers between different families or groups, fostering lasting peace.
- Empowered Citizens: People learn organizational, financial, and leadership skills that are useful in all areas of life.

EVALUATION

1. Besides physical strength, what is another valuable skill youths can bring to community projects?

2. What is the main purpose of a Town Hall meeting?
3. If a community needs to buy cement and roofing sheets, what are two ways they could raise the money?
4. Why is it better for a community to build a park themselves than to always wait for the government?
5. How does a successful community project create a sense of pride?

ASSIGNMENT

1. (Written/Persuasive) You are a youth leader. Write a short announcement (3-4 sentences) to persuade other young people in your area to join a community clean-up this Saturday. Mention one benefit for them.
2. (Maths Integration) Imagine your community needs ₦50,000 to fix a borehole. If 100 households agree to pay a levy, how much should each household contribute? Show your working.
3. (Role-Play Prep) In your notebook, write down two points you would raise if you were to speak at a Town Hall meeting about "Making our streets safer for children to play."

WEEK 9: EFFECTS OF FAMILY VALUES ON RELATIONSHIPS I

OBJECTIVES By the end of the lesson, pupils should be able to:

1. Define family values as the important beliefs and principles a family lives by.
2. List and explain common positive family values.
3. Explain how values taught at home shape a child's character and behavior outside.
4. Describe how honesty builds trust within a family.

CONTENT

1. Meaning of Family Values

Every family has an unwritten rulebook. Family Values are the core beliefs, principles, and standards of behavior that a family considers to be most important. They are the "roots" of the family tree. They guide how family members treat each other and the outside world. Your family's values are your first and most important lessons in life.

2. Common Positive Family Values

These are some of the good values many families try to teach:

- Honesty: Always telling the truth. This builds a foundation of trust. (Parents are honest with children, children are honest with parents).
- Respect: Treating each other with politeness and consideration. Greeting elders, listening without interrupting, speaking kindly.
- Hard Work: Valuing effort and diligence. Doing your chores and schoolwork well, not looking for shortcuts.
- Responsibility: Being accountable for your actions and duties, as learned in earlier lessons.
- Love and Care: Showing affection, helping each other, and being there in times of trouble. The family is a safe haven.
- Obedience (to Parents/Guardians): Listening to and following the guidance of parents, who have more experience.

3. How Family Values Shape Behavior ("The First School")

The family is called the "first school" because it is where you learn your most basic lessons about life and how to behave.

- If your family values respect, you will naturally greet your teachers and be polite to classmates.
- If your family values hard work, you will be less likely to cheat on exams or avoid homework.
- If your family values sharing, you will find it easy to share your toys or food with friends. Children are like sponges; they absorb the behaviors they see at home. These learned behaviors then show up at school, on the playground, and eventually in their future workplaces and families.

4. Integrity and Honesty

Integrity is doing the right thing even when no one is watching. Honesty is a big part of integrity.

- How it Builds Trust: When you are always honest, your parents trust you to go to a friend's house. Your teacher trusts your word. Your friends know they can believe you.
- Consequences of Dishonesty: Lies break trust. If a child lies about finishing homework, the parent may stop trusting their word about other things. Rebuilding trust is much harder than keeping it.

EVALUATION

1. What are family values? Can you name one value your family thinks is very important?
2. Why is the family called the "first school"?
3. If a child grows up in a home where everyone shouts and insults each other, what value are they learning? How might they behave at school?
4. What is the difference between honesty and integrity?
5. Your friend asks you to lie to your teacher for them. Which family value should guide your decision?

ASSIGNMENT

1. (Written) Have a family discussion. Ask: "What are three values we think are most important in our family?" Write them down and decorate the page.
2. (Reflective Writing) Write about a time you were honest even though it was difficult. What was the result?
3. (Drawing) Draw a shield. Divide it into 4 parts. In each part, draw a symbol for a family value (e.g., a heart for Love, a book for Hard Work, a smiling mouth for Respectful speech, a tick for Honesty).

WEEK 10: EFFECTS OF FAMILY VALUES ON RELATIONSHIPS II

OBJECTIVES By the end of the lesson, pupils should be able to:

1. Explain how the values you hold influence the kind of friends you choose.
2. Describe ways to maintain your good family values even when at school or with peers.
3. State how good values help in resolving conflicts or arguments.
4. Identify possible negative outcomes when a child lacks positive family values.

CONTENT

1. Values in Friendship ("Birds of a Feather Flock Together")

This common saying means people who are similar tend to spend time together. Your family values act like a magnet, attracting friends with similar values.

- *If you value kindness, you will be drawn to friends who are also kind and caring, and you will avoid bullies.
- *If you value studying and learning, you will likely be friends with other serious pupils, not those who always play truant.
- *If you value honesty, you will not enjoy being around friends who lie or steal. Good values help you choose good friends who will support your growth, not lead you into trouble.

2. Maintaining Values in School (Peer Pressure)

School is where you meet children from many different family backgrounds. Some may not have the same values as you. Peer pressure is when friends try to influence you to do something. To maintain your values:

- Be Confident: Know who you are and what you stand for. "My parents taught me not to do that."
- Politely Decline: You can say "No, thank you" or "That's not for me" without being rude.
- Choose Your Actions: You can be friends with someone without copying their bad behavior. You can choose to read while they play noisily.

- Seek Good Company: If a group constantly pressures you to do wrong, it's okay to find new friends. This shows strength, not weakness.

3. Conflict Resolution Through Values

Arguments and quarrels happen. Good values provide the tools to fix them:

- Patience stops you from hitting back or saying hurtful things in anger.
- Respect lets you listen to the other person's side of the story.
- Forgiveness allows you to let go of anger and mend the friendship after a sincere apology.
- Honesty helps you admit your own part in the conflict instead of blaming everything on the other person.

4. Consequences of Lacking Family Values ("Home Training")

When a child is not taught good values at home (lacks "home training"), it shows in their relationships:

- They may be rude, disobedient, and disruptive in class, leading to conflicts with teachers.
- They may struggle to make or keep friends because they are dishonest, selfish, or aggressive.
- They are more easily influenced into bad behaviors like stealing, fighting, or drug abuse because they lack a strong inner moral compass. This shows why the family's role in teaching values is so critical for a peaceful society.

EVALUATION

1. Explain the saying "Birds of a feather flock together" in your own words. How does it relate to values and friendship?
2. Your friends want to skip afternoon study to watch a football match. They call you a "bookworm" for refusing. What value are you upholding, and what is a polite way to respond?

3. You and your friend had a fight. Which value—patience or revenge—will help you resolve it better?
4. What does the term "home training" mean? How can you tell if a pupil has good home training?
5. True or False: It is okay to change your good behavior just to fit in with a popular group.

ASSIGNMENT

1. (Written) List your two closest friends. Next to each name, write one positive value they have that you admire (e.g., "Kemi is always honest").
2. (Scenario Response) Write a short dialogue. Friend: "Come on, let's copy her homework, no one will know." You: (Write your response using a value-based refusal).
3. (Personal Pledge) Write a sentence promising to be a good representative of your family's values at school this WEEK. Sign your name.

WEEK 11: REVISION

This week is dedicated to revising, clarifying, and consolidating all key concepts from weeks 1-10 in preparation for the term's examination.

1. Review of Key Topics

A quick recap of our major themes:

- Leadership: Meaning, qualities, types (home, school, community), and leading by example.
- Pupil Leadership: Specific roles (Prefects, Head Boy/Girl) and responsible group leadership.
- Responsibility: Personal, family, and school duties. The crucial concept of Accountability.
- Social Justice: Fairness, equality, respect, and standing against discrimination.
- Community Mobilization: People uniting for common goals, roles of youth, Town Hall meetings, fundraising.
- Family Values: Definition, examples, and their powerful effects on behavior, friendships, and conflict resolution.

2. Interactive Revision Activities

- "Who Am I?" Quiz: Teacher describes a leader/role (e.g., "I am the overall pupil leader in the school"), pupils guess (Head Boy/Girl).
- Scenario Discussions: Present real-life scenarios (e.g., "You see a new pupil being mocked for their accent. What do you do?") for pupils to solve using lessons on social justice and values.
- Values Charades: Pupils act out a value (e.g., "helping someone carry books" for kindness, "returning a lost item" for honesty) for others to guess.
- Community Project Brainstorm: In groups, pupils plan a mock community project: name the problem, list three steps, and say how they would raise funds.

3. Examination Preparation Tips

- Review your notes, especially key definitions.
- Practice explaining concepts in your own words, not just memorizing.
- Think of examples from your own life for each topic.
- Ensure all assignments are complete and understood.

EVALUATION (A series of mixed, application-based questions to be conducted orally or in a short written quiz).

1. Describe a situation where you showed leadership, even without a title.
2. If you were the Labour Prefect and some pupils refused to clean, how would you handle it using "leadership by example"?
3. Give an example of a fair action that is not an equal action.
4. Why is accountability the most important part of being responsible?
5. How can good family values protect you from negative peer pressure?

ASSIGNMENT

1. (Study) Create five flash cards. On one side, write a key term (e.g., Accountability, Mobilization, Integrity). On the back, write the definition and one example.
2. (Written Synthesis) Write a short paragraph (5-6 sentences) as follows: "A good citizen should... " Include points about leadership, responsibility, and justice.
3. (Preparation) Organize your notebook. Make sure notes from WEEK 1 to WEEK 10 are in order and ready for the exam.

PRIMARY 5 SOCIAL AND CITIZENSHIP STUDIES LESSON NOTES

SECOND TERM

WEEK 1: MEANING AND IMPORTANCE OF GOOD GOVERNANCE

OBJECTIVES By the end of the lesson, pupils should be able to:

1. Define governance as the way a group, organization, or country is managed and controlled.
2. List and explain three key elements of good governance: transparency, accountability, and participation.
3. Explain the principle of the "Rule of Law" and its importance for fairness.
4. Mention two negative effects of bad governance on the lives of ordinary people.

CONTENT

1. What is Governance?

Governance is about how decisions are made and how power is used to manage the affairs of a group of people. It is the system of control and management.

- Simple Analogy: Just as your father or mother manages your home (decides what to buy, sets rules), and your Headteacher manages your school, governance is how a community, state, or country is managed by its leaders.
- Leaders in Governance: The President, Governors, Local Government Chairmen, and their teams are responsible for the governance of Nigeria.

2. Elements of Good Governance

For governance to be "good," it must follow certain principles that make it fair, effective, and trustworthy.

- Transparency: This means openness. A transparent government does things in the open for people to see, especially how public money is spent. It's like a Class Monitor who shows the whole class how the class fund was used for a party, listing every item bought.

- Accountability: This means answerability. Leaders must take responsibility for their actions and decisions. If a project fails or money is missing, accountable leaders explain what happened and work to fix it. They answer to the people they serve.
- Participation: This means involvement. In good governance, citizens have a say in how they are ruled. The main way we participate is by voting during elections to choose our leaders. Our opinions should also be listened to.

3. The Rule of Law

This is a fundamental pillar of good governance. The Rule of Law means that the law is supreme and applies to everyone equally.

- No one is above the law: Not the President, not the police officer, not the richest person in town. If anyone breaks the law, they should face the consequences.
- It ensures fairness and justice: It protects the weak from the strong. It means you cannot be punished for something that is not against the law.

- Example: If a law says "No littering," both a minister's driver and a market trader who throw rubbish on the street should be fined equally.

4. Effects of Bad Governance

When leaders are selfish, corrupt, or do not follow the principles of good governance, everyone suffers. This is bad governance.

- Poverty and Unemployment: Money meant for creating jobs or helping farmers is stolen, so people remain poor and without work.
- Lack of Basic Amenities: Funds for building schools, hospitals, roads, and providing clean water disappear. This leads to poor healthcare, bad roads, and children learning under trees.
- Insecurity: When people are poor, hungry, and feel cheated, some may turn to crime. Also, money for police and security may not be properly used, making communities unsafe.

EVALUATION

1. How is the governance of a country similar to the management of your school by the Headteacher?
2. If your Local Government Chairman builds a new market but refuses to say how much it cost, which principle of good governance is being violated?
3. What does "No one is above the law" mean? Can a Senator break a traffic law without consequence in a society with the Rule of Law?
4. How does the Rule of Law protect a poor farmer in a dispute with a wealthy businessman?
5. Connect the effect to the cause: Bad governance leads to (A) good hospitals (B) lack of clean water (C) plenty of jobs.
6. Why is citizen participation (like voting) so important for good governance?

ASSIGNMENT

1. (Written) You are the Class Governor. Write down two rules you would make to ensure transparency and accountability in managing class duties (e.g., how to share cleaning tasks).
2. (Practical/Oral) Ask an adult at home: "What is one thing our local government should be more transparent about?" Share the answer in class.
3. (Drawing) Draw a simple set of scales (like the symbol of justice). On one side, draw a crown. On the other side, draw a regular person. Label it "The Rule of Law: Everyone is Equal Before the Law".

WEEK 2: TYPES OF GOVERNMENT I

OBJECTIVES By the end of the lesson, pupils should be able to:

1. Define democracy as government by the people through elected representatives.
2. Mention two key features of a democratic system (elections, freedom of speech).
3. Explain monarchy as a system led by a king or queen, often through hereditary succession.
4. Describe military government as rule by the armed forces, usually taken by force.

CONTENT

1. Democracy: Government by the People

The word democracy comes from Greek words meaning "people" and "power" or "rule." So, democracy is "rule by the people."

- How it works: Citizens choose their leaders through regular, free, and fair elections. The leader with the most votes wins. Nigeria is a democratic country.
- Key Features:
 - Elections: This is the heart of democracy. People vote for their preferred candidates.
 - Freedom of Speech: People can express their opinions, criticize the government, and discuss ideas without fear of arrest (as long as it's done peacefully and lawfully).
 - Term Limits: Leaders have a fixed period to rule (e.g., 4 years for a Nigerian President). After that, they must seek re-election through another vote. This prevents one person from ruling forever.

DEMOCRACY	MONARCHY	MILITARY RULE

Leaders Chosen by Voting	Leader is a King/Queen (Hereditary)	Leaders are Soldiers (Take power by force)

2. Monarchy: Government by a King or Queen

A monarchy is a system where a single person, a monarch (King, Queen, Emperor, Sultan), is the head of state for life.

- Hereditary Rule: The position is usually passed down through family lines, from parent to child (e.g., a Prince becomes King after his father).
- Traditional Role in Nigeria: Nigeria is not ruled by a monarchy at the national level, but we have many respected traditional monarchs like the Ooni of Ife, the Sultan of Sokoto, and the Obi of Onitsha. They are custodians of culture and tradition, and they advise the government.
- Constitutional Monarchy: In places like the United Kingdom, the monarch is a symbol, while real government power lies with elected officials (like the Prime Minister).

3. Military Government (Military Rule)

This is when the armed forces (Army, Navy, Air Force) take control of the government of a country.

- How it starts: Usually through a coup d'état (or simply "coup"), where soldiers use force to overthrow the elected government.
- How it rules: The military rules by decrees (orders that have the force of law) instead of a constitution made by the people's representatives. There are no elections, and freedoms are often restricted.
- Nigeria's History: Nigeria has experienced military rule in the past before returning to democracy in 1999.

EVALUATION

1. Why is voting the most important activity in a democracy?
2. What does "hereditary" rule mean in a monarchy? Can you become a King in Nigeria today by winning an election?
3. How is a traditional Nigerian monarch (like an Oba) different from a President?
4. What is a "coup"? How is it different from an election?
5. During military rule, laws are made by "decrees." Who makes these decrees, and why is this problematic for citizen participation?
6. Which system of government gives the most power to the ordinary citizen: Democracy, Monarchy, or Military Rule?

ASSIGNMENT

1. (Written) Write down the name of the current democratically elected President of Nigeria and your state Governor.
2. (Research) Find out and write the name of one prominent traditional ruler (Monarch) in your state or a neighboring state. What is their title (e.g., Emir, Oba)?
3. (Critical Thinking) Write one sentence: "I prefer democracy because..." OR "I would not want military rule because..."

WEEK 3: TYPES OF GOVERNMENT II

OBJECTIVES By the end of the lesson, pupils should be able to:

1. Define a federal system of government as one where power is shared between central and regional authorities.
2. List and differentiate between the three tiers of government in Nigeria: Federal, State, and Local.
3. Explain the concept of Separation of Powers among the three arms of government.
4. Describe the purpose of Checks and Balances in preventing abuse of power.

CONTENT

1. Federal System of Government

Nigeria practices a federal system. This means governmental power is shared or divided between:

- A strong central (or Federal) government for the whole country.
- Smaller regional (State) governments.
- This allows different regions (states) to have some control over their own local affairs while remaining united as one country. It is suitable for a large and diverse country like Nigeria.

2. The Three Tiers of Government in Nigeria

"Tiers" means levels. We have three levels of government, each with different responsibilities.

- Federal Government: This is the national government headquartered in Abuja. It handles matters that affect the entire country.
 - Examples: National defence (Army), foreign affairs, currency (Naira), airports, and federal universities.
- State Government: Each of Nigeria's 36 states has its own government (e.g., Lagos State Government, Kano State Government).

- Examples: State roads, state universities, secondary schools, and hospitals within the state.
- Local Government: This is the government closest to the people. Nigeria has 774 Local Government Areas (LGAs).
 - Examples: Primary schools, markets, local roads, garbage collection, and community health centers.

3. Separation of Powers

To prevent any one person or group from having too much power, the work of government (especially at the federal and state levels) is split into three separate arms or branches:

- The Legislature (Law Makers): This arm makes the laws. In Nigeria, this is the National Assembly (Senate and House of Representatives) at the federal level.
- The Executive (Law Implementers): This arm implements or executes the laws. It is made up of the President/Vice President, Governors, and their ministries (like Ministry of Education). They run the day-to-day business of government.

- The Judiciary (Law Interpreters): This arm interprets the laws and settles disputes. It is made up of the courts and judges. They decide if a law has been broken and what the punishment should be.

4. Checks and Balances

The three arms are not completely separate in a way that they ignore each other. The system of Checks and Balances means each arm has some power to monitor, limit, or "check" the actions of the other two. This ensures balance and prevents abuse.

- Example (Check by Legislature): The National Assembly can investigate how the President (Executive) is spending money.
- Example (Check by Judiciary): The Supreme Court can declare a law made by the National Assembly (Legislature) as unconstitutional and therefore invalid.
- Example (Check by Executive): The President can veto (reject) a bill from the National Assembly.

EVALUATION

1. Why is a federal system a good choice for a country with many different ethnic groups and cultures like Nigeria?
2. If a new primary school is to be built in your community, which tier of government is most responsible?
3. Who is responsible for making a law that bans plastic bags across all of Nigeria: the Legislature, Executive, or Judiciary?
4. If the President is accused of stealing money, which arm of government (the courts) would handle the case? This is an example of a _____ on the Executive.
5. What is the main goal of having Separation of Powers and Checks and Balances?

ASSIGNMENT

1. (Written/Drawing) Draw the pyramid of the three tiers of government. In each tier, write one specific service it provides that you or your family uses.

2. (Research) Find out and write the name of your Local Government Area (LGA) and your Local Government Chairman.
3. (Analogy) In your school, the Headteacher is like the Executive. Who is like the Legislature (making school rules)? Who is like the Judiciary (settling disputes like fights)? Write your answers.

WEEK 4: ELECTORAL PROCESS I

OBJECTIVES By the end of the lesson, pupils should be able to:

1. Define an election as a formal process for choosing leaders by voting.
2. State two important reasons why elections are crucial in a democracy.
3. Differentiate between a "free" election and a "fair" election.
4. List and explain two common electoral offences (e.g., rigging, vote-buying).

CONTENT

1. Meaning of Election

An election is a organized process where the qualified members of a community or country choose their leaders or decide on an issue by casting votes. It is the machinery of democracy.

- From School to Nation: Just as you might vote for your Class Monitor, citizens vote for their Councillor, Local Government Chairman, Governor, and President.

2. Importance of Elections

Why do we go through the stress of organizing elections?

- Choice and Voice: Elections give power to the people. They allow citizens to choose who will represent and govern them.
- Peaceful Change: They provide a peaceful way to remove leaders who are not performing well. Instead of violent protests or coups, people can simply vote them out in the next election.
- Accountability: Knowing they must face the voters again, elected leaders are more likely to listen to the people and try to fulfill their promises.

3. Free and Fair Elections

For an election to truly reflect the will of the people, it must be both FREE and FAIR.

- Free Election: This means voters can cast their vote without fear, intimidation, or violence. They are free to choose any candidate. Secret balloting (voting in private) is part of a free election.
- Fair Election: This means the entire process is honest and impartial. All candidates have equal opportunity to campaign, the voting and counting processes are transparent, and the true result is announced. No one cheats.

4. Electoral Offences (Bad Election Behaviors)

These are illegal activities that destroy the credibility of an election. They are crimes.

- Rigging: This is manipulating the election process to get a false result. It can include stuffing ballot boxes with fake votes, changing results at the counting centre, or hacking electronic systems.

- Vote Buying: This is when a candidate or their agents give voters money, food, or gifts to vote for them. This is wrong because it tricks poor people into voting against their true choice.
- Thuggery and Violence: Using armed youths to scare away voters, destroy materials, or cause chaos to disrupt the election.
- Underage Voting: Allowing someone below the legal voting age (18 in Nigeria) to vote.
- False Result Declaration: Announcing a winner who did not actually get the most votes.

EVALUATION

1. How is voting for a Class Captain similar to a national election? How is it different?
2. Why is the possibility of being voted out of office important for keeping leaders accountable?
3. During an election, thugs storm a polling unit and scatter the ballot boxes. Is this a violation of a "free" or "fair" election? Explain.
4. What is vote-buying? Why is it harmful to both the voter and democracy?
5. What is the legal voting age in Nigeria? Why do you think there is an age limit?
6. If you saw someone trying to vote twice, what electoral offence would they be committing?

ASSIGNMENT

1. (Creative) Design a poster with a clear message against one electoral offence (e.g., "Say NO to Vote Selling", "Rigging Steals Our Future").
2. (Written) Write down the full name of the body that conducts elections in Nigeria: Independent National Electoral Commission (INEC).
3. (Oral/Practical) Ask your parents or guardians if they have their Permanent Voter's Card (PVC). Discuss with them why the PVC is important.

WEEK 5 & 6: MIDTERM EXAMINATION AND BREAK

WEEK 7: COMPONENTS OF THE ELECTORAL PROCESS

OBJECTIVES By the end of the lesson, pupils should be able to:

1. Explain Voter Registration and the importance of the Permanent Voter's Card (PVC).
2. Describe what happens during an electoral campaign period.
3. List the four basic steps a voter takes on Election Day.
4. Mention the role of the Electoral Tribunal in resolving election disputes.

CONTENT

1. Voter Registration

Before any election, eligible citizens must register to vote. In Nigeria, this is done by INEC.

- Who can register? Any Nigerian citizen who is 18 years old and above.
- The PVC: After registration, you get a Permanent Voter's Card (PVC). This card has your details, photograph, and a unique number. You cannot vote without your PVC. It is your ticket to participate.
- Purpose: Registration ensures that only qualified people vote, prevents underage voting, and helps plan for the number of voters in each area.

2. Electoral Campaigns

This is the period (usually weeks before the election) when candidates and political parties try to convince people to vote for them.

- Activities: They hold rallies, give speeches, distribute posters and flyers, advertise on TV/radio, and visit communities.
- Purpose: To tell voters about their manifesto (their plans and promises if elected). Voters should listen carefully to choose the best candidate.
- Rules: Campaigns should be peaceful and not involve hate speech or violence.

3. Voting Procedures (Election Day)

On the election day, a voter goes to their designated Polling Unit. The key steps are:

- Step 1: Accreditation: Election officials verify your identity using your PVC and your fingerprint (via a card reader). This confirms you are the rightful owner of the card and prevents multiple voting.
- Step 2: Voting: You are given a ballot paper (or you use a voting machine) in a secret booth. You mark your choice in private. No one should see who you are voting for.
- Step 3: Casting: You fold your ballot paper and drop it into the Ballot Box in front of everyone.
- Step 4: Counting: After voting ends at the Polling Unit, officials open the ballot boxes and count the votes publicly in the presence of party agents and observers. Results are recorded on a result sheet.

4. Electoral Tribunal

Sometimes, a candidate or party believes the election was rigged or the result was wrong. Instead of fighting, they go to court. An Electoral Tribunal is a special court set up to handle disputes arising from elections.

- Its Job: To listen to evidence, examine results, and make a legal decision on who truly won the election.

- Importance: It provides a legal and peaceful way to resolve election conflicts, upholding the rule of law.

EVALUATION

1. Why is the PVC often described as "the power of the citizen"?
2. What is the main goal of a political campaign? As a voter, what should you be listening for?
3. Why is voting done in a secret booth? What does this protect?
4. Put these in order: Casting, Accreditation, Counting, Voting.
5. What happens during the accreditation process?
6. If Candidate A loses but is sure Candidate B rigged, what should they do instead of mobilizing thugs? Which institution handles this?

ASSIGNMENT

1. (Written/Design) Design a simple "How to Vote" guide for first-time voters. Use 4 short sentences or pictures for the 4 main steps.
2. (Role-Play) Write a short, 3-sentence campaign speech for running for "School Food Prefect." Mention one clear promise (e.g., "I will work to make sure our lunch is served hot and on time").
3. (Discussion) With an adult at home, discuss: "Why is it important for election results to be counted openly at the polling unit right after voting?"

WEEK 8: PARTY SYSTEMS AND POLITICAL PARTIES

OBJECTIVES By the end of the lesson, pupils should be able to:

1. Define a political party as an organized group with similar political aims.
2. Mention two key functions of political parties in a democracy.
3. Identify at least two major political parties in Nigeria by name and symbol.
4. Explain what a multi-party system is and its advantage.

CONTENT

1. What is a Political Party?

A political party is an organized group of people who share similar ideas, beliefs, and visions about how a country should be governed. They come together to contest elections in order to win power and implement their plans.

- Key Features: Every party has a name, a symbol (logo), a slogan, and a manifesto (document containing their plans).

2. Functions of Political Parties

Political parties are essential for a working democracy. They:

- Contest Elections: They select and present candidates for people to vote for.
- Educate the Public: Through campaigns and rallies, they inform citizens about national issues and different policy ideas.
- Unite People: They bring together people from different tribes, religions, and backgrounds under a common political goal.
- Form Government: The party (or coalition) that wins the most seats forms the government.
- Provide Opposition: Parties that do not win act as the "opposition." They critically monitor the ruling party, point out mistakes, and propose alternatives. This keeps the government on its toes.

Major Political Parties in Nigeria

APC

LP

3. Major Political Parties in Nigeria

Nigeria has a multi-party system (many parties). Some of the major ones include:

- All Progressives Congress (APC): Symbol is the Broom. Signifies unity and strength together.
- People's Democratic Party (PDP): Symbol is the Umbrella. Signifies shelter and protection for all.
- Labour Party (LP): Symbol is the Red Cap or Family. Associated with workers' rights and family values.

4. Multi-Party System

A multi-party system is one where more than two political parties have a serious chance of winning elections and forming government.

- Advantage: It gives voters more choices. People can choose from different parties with different ideas, not just between two.

- Nigeria's System: Nigeria operates a multi-party system, which is healthy for democracy as it encourages competition and new ideas.

EVALUATION

1. What is the main goal of any political party?
2. Why is the "opposition" role played by parties that lose an election important for a country?
3. Which political party uses a broom as its symbol? What do you think that symbol is meant to represent?
4. If a country has only one political party that everyone must belong to, can it truly be called a democracy? Why or why not?
5. How does a multi-party system benefit you as a future voter?
6. What document contains the detailed plans and promises of a political party?

ASSIGNMENT

1. (Research/Written) Find out which of the major political parties is currently in power in your state. Write down the name of the party and the state Governor.
2. (Creative) Choose any party symbol (broom, umbrella, cap). Draw it creatively and write one sentence about what you think the symbol means for governing the country.
3. (Discussion) Ask two adults in your family or neighborhood which political party they support (they don't have to say why). Just note the names. Discuss in class (without naming individuals) the variety of parties people support.

WEEK 9: POLITICAL PARTIES AND PRESSURE GROUPS

OBJECTIVES By the end of the lesson, pupils should be able to:

1. Define a pressure group as an organization that influences government policy for a specific interest.
2. State the key difference between a political party and a pressure group (seeking power vs. influencing power).
3. List two examples of pressure groups in Nigeria and what they stand for.
4. Explain two methods pressure groups use to get the government's attention (e.g., strikes, protests).

CONTENT

1. What is a Pressure Group? A pressure group (also called an interest group) is an organized association of people who come together to protect or promote a specific common interest or cause. They try to influence the government to make policies that favour their members or their cause.

- Key Difference from Political Parties: Pressure groups do not contest elections to take over government. They only want to influence those who are in power.

2. Differences: Political Party vs. Pressure Group

Feature	Political Party	Pressure Group
Main Goal	To win political power through elections.	To influence government policy on specific issues.
Contest Elections?	YES. They present candidates.	NO. They do not present candidates.
Scope of Interest	Broad. Concerned with all areas of governance.	Narrow. Focused on one main issue (e.g., workers' pay, environment).
Example in Nigeria	APC, PDP, LP.	NLC, ASUU, NMA.

3. Examples of Pressure Groups in Nigeria

- NLC (Nigeria Labour Congress): The main union for workers across different professions. Fights for better salaries and working conditions.
- ASUU (Academic Staff Union of Universities): The union for university lecturers. Fights for better funding for universities and welfare for lecturers.
- NMA (Nigerian Medical Association): The association for medical doctors. Advocates for better healthcare and doctors' welfare.
- NBA (Nigerian Bar Association): The association for lawyers.

4. How Pressure Groups Influence Government To get the government to listen, they use various methods:

- Strike Action: Members stop work (e.g., teachers stop teaching, doctors stop working in hospitals) until their demands are discussed. This puts pressure on the government because public services are disrupted.
- Peaceful Protests/Demonstrations: Organizing marches and rallies to draw public and media attention to their cause.
- Lobbying: Meeting directly with government officials and lawmakers to persuade them.
- Public Awareness: Using media (TV, newspapers) to educate the public about their issue.

EVALUATION

1. What is the primary aim of a pressure group?
2. If an organization fields a candidate for the position of Governor, is it a political party or a pressure group?
3. Why do university lecturers (through ASUU) go on strike? What method are they using?
4. Who does the NLC represent? What is their main concern?
5. How is a protest by a pressure group different from the campaign rally of a political party?
6. Can a pressure group become a political party? (Hint: Yes, if it decides to start contesting elections).

ASSIGNMENT

1. (Research) Find out what the acronym NUT stands for. Which professional group does it represent? (Nigeria Union of Teachers).
2. (Written) You are the leader of a pressure group called "Pupils for Better Playgrounds (PBP)." Write a short letter (3-4 sentences) to your Headteacher, stating one clear demand and one peaceful action you might take if ignored.
3. (Discussion) Ask your teacher if they belong to any union or professional association (like NUT). Discuss why teachers might need a union.

WEEK 10: INTRODUCTION TO FINANCIAL SYSTEM

OBJECTIVES By the end of the lesson, pupils should be able to:

1. Define the financial system as the network that allows money to move in an economy.
2. Explain the two main functions of a bank: keeping money safe and providing loans.
3. Differentiate between a Commercial Bank and a Microfinance Bank.
4. Describe the role of the Central Bank of Nigeria (CBN) as the "banker's bank" and issuer of currency.

CONTENT

1. What is the Financial System? Think of money like blood in the body. The financial system is like the circulatory system that allows money to flow from those who have it to those who need it. It includes banks, insurance companies, the stock market, and other institutions that help people save, borrow, invest, and manage money.

2. Banks and Their Main Functions A bank is a safe place to keep your money. It is like a giant, super-secure piggy bank for the whole society.

- Function 1: Safekeeping and Savings: Banks keep your money safe from theft or fire. They also offer savings accounts where your money can grow a little through interest (a small reward for saving with them).
- Function 2: Lending (Giving Loans): Banks don't just store money; they lend it to people and businesses. For example, a bank can give a loan to a woman to start a small shop or to a family to build a house. The borrower pays back the money with a little extra (interest), which is how the bank makes profit.

3. Types of Banks

- Commercial Banks: These are the common banks you see on major streets with big signs.
 - Examples: First Bank, Zenith Bank, UBA, GTBank.
 - Services: For everyone—savings accounts, current accounts, loans, ATM cards.
- Microfinance Banks: These are smaller banks focused on small businesses, traders, and low-income earners in local communities. They give smaller, more accessible loans.
 - Purpose: To support grassroots business growth.

4. The Central Bank of Nigeria (CBN) This is not a bank for individuals like you and your parents. The CBN is the "banker's bank" and the apex financial authority in Nigeria.

- Key Roles:
 - Issues Currency: It prints and controls the supply of Naira notes and coins.
 - Banker to the Government: It keeps the government's money.
 - Supervises Other Banks: It makes rules and checks that all other banks are operating safely and not cheating customers.
 - Manages National Economy: It tries to control inflation and keep the value of the Naira stable.

EVALUATION

1. Why is it safer to keep your money in a bank than under your mattress at home?
2. What is the main reason a bank gives you a little extra money (interest) on your savings?

3. If your mother wants to open a shop in the local market, which type of bank might be more helpful for a small startup loan: a Commercial Bank or a Microfinance Bank?
4. Who prints the ₦1000 note in your pocket?
5. If a commercial bank is treating its customers unfairly, which institution should they complain to for regulation?
6. What does the "C" in CBN stand for?

ASSIGNMENT

1. (Practical) Ask a parent to show you a debit card (ATM card) from any bank. In your book, draw a rectangle to represent it and write the name of the bank.
2. (Maths Integration) You save ₦200 every WEEK in a bank for 4 WEEKs. How much have you saved in total? If the bank adds ₦10 as interest, what is your new total?
3. (Research/Written) Look at a Naira note (any denomination). Write down one security feature you see (e.g., a shiny strip, raised print, watermark). The CBN puts these there to prevent counterfeiting.

WEEK 11: REVISION

This week is dedicated to revising, clarifying, and consolidating all key concepts from Term 2 (weeks 1-10) in preparation for the term's examination.

1. Review of Key Topics A quick recap of our major themes:

- Governance: Meaning, elements of good governance (Transparency, Accountability, Participation), Rule of Law, effects of bad governance.
- Types of Government: Democracy, Monarchy, Military Rule. Federal System and the Three Tiers (Federal, State, Local).
- Separation of Powers & Checks and Balances: Legislature, Executive, Judiciary.
- Electoral Process: Importance of elections, Free & Fair, electoral offences, Voter Registration/PVC, voting steps, Electoral Tribunal.
- Political Parties & Pressure Groups: Definition, functions, examples (APC, PDP; NLC, ASUU), differences.
- Financial System: Functions of banks, types of banks, role of the CBN.

2. Interactive Revision Activities

- Acronym Challenge: INEC, PVC, CBN, APC, PDP, NLC, ASUU. What does each stand for?
- "Which Tier Am I?" Game: Teacher reads a service (e.g., "I build international airports"), pupils shout the correct tier of government (Federal!).
- Scenario Role-Play: Act out a scene showing a good democratic practice (e.g., peaceful campaigning) vs. an electoral offence (e.g., vote-buying).
- Quick Sketch: On the board, draw the three arms of government and briefly list their functions.

3. Examination Preparation Tips

- Focus on understanding differences (e.g., Party vs. Pressure Group, Free vs. Fair election).
- Be able to give a real-life example for each concept.

- Review the diagrams and tables in your notes; they help summarize big ideas.
- Practice explaining concepts in your own words to a family member.

EVALUATION (A series of mixed, application-based questions to be conducted orally or in a short written quiz).

1. How does the Rule of Law make life more predictable and safe for citizens?
2. Explain why a military government, which does not hold elections, violates the principle of citizen participation.
3. If the President of Nigeria wants to build a new highway from Lagos to Abuja, which tier of government is responsible? Which arm of government would provide the money (budget) for it?
4. Describe two ways a pressure group is different from the political party that is currently ruling your state.
5. Your uncle saves money in a bank. Explain two benefits he gets from doing this instead of keeping cash at home.

ASSIGNMENT

1. (Study) Create a one-page "Term 2 Mind Map." Put "Citizenship and Governance" in the center. Draw branches for the main topics and sub-branches for key points.
2. (Written Synthesis) Write a letter to an imaginary pen pal in another country explaining: "In Nigeria, we choose our leaders by..." Describe the electoral process in 4-5 sentences.
3. (Preparation) Organize your Term 2 notes. Make a list of any topics you still find confusing to ask your teacher about before the exam.

12	EXAMINATION	End of term assessment
13	CLOSING	Report card distribution; Vacation assignment

PRIMARY 5 SOCIAL AND CITIZENSHIP STUDIES LESSON NOTES

THIRD TERM

WEEK 1: ADVANCED MONEY MANAGEMENT

OBJECTIVES By the end of the lesson, pupils should be able to:

1. Explain the difference between earning (getting money), saving (keeping money), and spending (using money).
2. Mention three banking services available for people, including children.
3. Describe in simple terms how an ATM (Automated Teller Machine) works and its purpose.
4. State two important rules for protecting their money and personal information.

CONTENT

1. Earning, Saving, and Spending: The Money Cycle

Money is a tool we use to get what we need and want. Managing it involves three main actions:

- Earning: This is how you get money. For adults, this is usually a salary from a job. For you, it might be pocket money from parents, a gift for your birthday, or a small reward for doing extra chores at home (like washing the car or helping in the shop).
- Spending: This is how you use money to buy things. We spend on:
 - Needs: Things we must have to live and learn (e.g., food, school uniforms, books).
 - Wants: Things we would like to have but can live without (e.g., toys, sweets, video games).
- Saving: This is the smart habit of keeping some money for the future instead of spending it all now. You save for bigger goals, like buying a bicycle, a special gift, or for an emergency.

2. Banking Services for Everyone (Including You!)

Banks are not just for adults. They offer safe and helpful services for young people too.

- Savings Account: This is a special "home" for your money in the bank. It keeps your cash safe from theft or loss at home. Some banks even add a little extra money called interest to your savings as a reward.
- Kiddies/Teens Account: Many Nigerian banks (like First Bank's FirstFuture, UBA's UBA Kiddies, etc.) have accounts designed for children. A parent or guardian helps you open it, and you can learn to track your savings.
- Mobile Banking & Alerts: With a parent's help, you can sometimes check your account balance or get SMS alerts on a phone. This teaches you to monitor your money.

What Can I Do With My Money?

3. How an ATM Works (The Magic Money Machine)

An ATM (Automated Teller Machine) is like a robotic bank teller available 24/7.

- What you need: A plastic debit card (linked to your bank account) and a secret PIN (Personal Identification Number).

- How it works:
 - a. You insert your card.
 - b. You type your secret PIN (never share this!).
 - c. You choose what you want to do: "Withdraw Cash," "Check Balance."
 - d. The machine gives you cash or shows your balance on the screen.
- Safety First: Always use an ATM in a well-lit, safe place. Cover the keypad when typing your PIN.

4. Protecting Your Money

Money is valuable, and so is your personal information.

- Keep Your PIN Secret: Your PIN is like the key to your money box. Never tell it to friends or write it on your card. Don't let anyone watch you type it.
- Keep Cash Safe: Don't show off large amounts of money in public. Keep it in a safe pocket or wallet.
- Beware of Scams: If someone you don't know promises to double your money quickly or asks for your card details, it's likely a trick. Real money doesn't grow magically overnight. Always talk to a trusted adult about money offers.

EVALUATION

1. What is the difference between a "need" and a "want"? Give one example of each that you might spend money on.
2. Why is saving money a smarter habit than spending all your pocket money immediately?
3. What are the two things you absolutely need to use an ATM?
4. Your friend says, "Tell me your PIN, I'll help you withdraw money." What should you do and why?
5. Name one banking service that can help a child keep their birthday gift money safe.
6. True or False: It is safe to tell your best friend your ATM PIN because you trust them.

ASSIGNMENT

1. (Practical) With a parent's supervision, look at a real debit/ATM card (cover the numbers). Draw its shape in your book and write down two safety rules for using it.
2. (Maths Integration) You earn ₦100 weekly. You want to buy a book costing ₦450. If you save ₦70 each week and spend ₦30, how many WEEKs will it take to buy the book? Show your working.
3. (Goal Setting) Draw and label a "Savings Goal Chart." At the top, write what you want to save for (e.g., a football). Draw 10 empty circles. Each time you save some money, you can colour one circle until you reach your goal.

WEEK 2: CHARACTERISTICS OF DRUG ABUSERS I

OBJECTIVES By the end of the lesson, pupils should be able to:

1. Identify at least two physical signs that may suggest a person is abusing drugs.
2. Mention three changes in behavior commonly seen in someone abusing drugs.
3. Explain how drug abuse negatively affects a student's academic performance and focus.
4. State how drug abuse leads to poor personal hygiene and health deterioration.

CONTENT

1. Physical Signs of Drug Abuse

Drugs are chemicals that change how the body works. When abused (used wrongly or illegally), they leave visible marks.

- Eyes: They may be red, bloodshot, or watery. The pupils (the black centre) might look extremely large or very small.
- Body Changes: Sudden weight loss because the person loses their appetite. They may look unusually thin or sickly.
- Lack of Coordination: Their hands may shake (tremors). They might stumble, drop things, or have trouble walking straight.
- Speech: Their speech may be slurred (slow and unclear, like someone very tired) or very fast and jumbled.
- Smell: Strange smells on breath or clothing, not like food or normal sweat.

2. Behavioral Changes (The Person Acts Differently)

Drugs change how a person thinks and acts. Watch for these signs:

- Mood Swings: Extremely happy and energetic one minute, then angry, sad, or violent the next for no clear reason.
- Secrecy and Lying: Becoming very secretive, locking doors, lying about where they are going or who they are with, and hiding objects.
- Stealing: They may start stealing money from home, school, or friends to buy drugs.

- Changing Friends: They suddenly drop old, good friends and spend all their time with a new group, often older ones who are also involved in bad habits.
- Loss of Interest: They stop caring about hobbies, sports, or activities they once loved.

3. Health Deterioration and Poor Hygiene

Drug abusers often stop taking care of themselves.

- Personal Hygiene: They may stop bathing regularly, wear dirty clothes, and have bad breath. They don't care about looking neat.
- Sickness: They may cough frequently, have constant headaches, feel weak, and get sick more often because drugs weaken the body's ability to fight illness.

4. Academic Decline

Drugs are enemies of the brain. They destroy the ability to think, concentrate, and remember.

- Truancy: The student will start skipping school (absent without reason).

- Poor Concentration: In class, they cannot focus. They may stare into space, fall asleep, or be easily distracted.
- Failing Grades: Their performance drops drastically. They don't do homework, fail tests, and may eventually drop out of school.
- Bad Attitude: They may become rude to teachers, break school rules, and cause disturbances.

EVALUATION

1. What might you notice about a person's eyes if they are abusing drugs?
2. How does drug abuse lead to stealing? What is the connection?
3. Why would a drug abuser stop caring about being clean or wearing neat uniforms?
4. If a bright student suddenly starts sleeping in class and failing all his tests, what could be one possible reason (other than laziness)?
5. True or False: Drugs help your brain remember things better for exams.
6. Mention one behavioral change that shows a person might be choosing bad friends over good ones.

ASSIGNMENT

1. (Written) Make a "Health Pledge" poster. Write: "I pledge to keep my body healthy by saying NO to drugs, alcohol, and smoking." Decorate it with drawings of healthy activities (e.g., playing football, reading, eating fruit).
2. (Role-play Script) Write a short dialogue between two friends. Friend A offers Friend B a "sweet that will make him feel strong." Write what Friend B should say to refuse firmly and walk away.
3. (Observation & Reflection) In your notebook, list five things you enjoy doing that make you happy and healthy (e.g., playing with siblings, drawing, singing). This reminds you that you don't need drugs to have fun.

WEEK 3: CHARACTERISTICS OF DRUG ABUSERS II

OBJECTIVES By the end of the lesson, pupils should be able to:

1. Describe psychological effects of drug abuse, such as depression, anxiety, and hallucinations.
2. Explain why noticing the signs of drug abuse early is very important for helping the person.
3. Mention the correct steps to take if they suspect a friend or family member is using drugs.
4. Identify where a drug abuser can get help (Rehabilitation Centres and support agencies).

CONTENT

1. Psychological Effects (Effects on the Mind and Feelings)

Drugs don't just hurt the body; they damage the mind and emotions.

- Depression: Feeling extremely sad, hopeless, and empty for a long time. The person may cry often, say life is not worth living, and have no energy for anything.
- Anxiety and Paranoia: Feeling super worried, scared, or nervous for no reason.
Paranoia is when a person feels like everyone is watching them, talking about them, or trying to harm them, even when it's not true.
- Hallucinations: Seeing, hearing, or feeling things that are not real. For example, seeing insects crawling on the wall when there are none, or hearing voices talking to them.
- Poor Judgment: They make very bad decisions without thinking of the consequences (like jumping from a height, thinking they can fly).

2. The Importance of Early Detection

Catching drug abuse early is like treating an illness before it becomes very serious.

- Easier to Stop: The addiction (strong physical and mental need for the drug) is not as deep. It's easier to help the person stop.
- Less Damage: Less harm is done to their brain, body, school life, and relationships.

- Prevents Tragedy: Early help can prevent accidents, violence, or death caused by being under the influence of drugs.

3. How to Help Someone (Do's and Don'ts)

If you are worried about someone, you must act wisely and safely.

- DO: Tell a Trusted Adult Immediately. This is the most important step. Tell your parent, teacher, school counselor, or a reliable family member. It is not betrayal; it is saving a life. Adults have the power to get proper help.
- DO: Show Care. You can say, "I'm worried about you. I care about you." But let the adult handle the main intervention.
- DON'T: Confront Them Alone or Keep it Secret. Do not try to be a hero. Do not keep it to yourself hoping it will go away. The problem will only get worse.
- DON'T: Judge or Insult Them. The person is sick and needs help, not more pain.

4. Treatment and Rehabilitation

Drug addiction is a sickness that needs medical treatment.

- Rehabilitation Centres ("Rehab"): These are special hospitals or centers where drug abusers go for treatment. Doctors and counselors help them.
 - a. Detoxification: Safely removing the drugs from their body.
 - b. Therapy/Counseling: Helping them understand why they started and teaching them skills to live without drugs.
 - c. Support Groups: Meeting others who are recovering, so they don't feel alone.
- Support Agencies: In Nigeria, the NDLEA (National Drug Law Enforcement Agency) fights drug trafficking and also helps with education and rehabilitation.

EVALUATION

1. What is a "hallucination"? Why is it dangerous for someone to have hallucinations?
2. Why is it better to tell an adult about a suspected drug problem early rather than waiting?

3. Who is the first person you should tell if you think your friend is taking drugs? Why shouldn't you handle it yourself?
4. What is the main purpose of a Rehabilitation Centre?
5. What does the acronym NDLEA stand for? What is one of their jobs?
6. True or False: If my friend swears me to secrecy about their drug use, I should keep the promise to be a loyal friend.

ASSIGNMENT

1. (Research) Find out and write the full meaning of NDLEA. Ask a parent or teacher for help.
2. (Letter Writing) Write a short, caring letter to an imaginary friend who is starting to act strange and skip school. In 3-4 sentences, express your concern and encourage them to talk to a teacher or counselor.
3. (List) Make a list of Five Trusted Adults you could talk to if you or a friend had a serious problem (e.g., Mother, Father, Class Teacher, School Nurse, Auntie).

WEEK 4: PREVENTION OF DRUG ABUSE - LIFE COPING SKILLS I

OBJECTIVES By the end of the lesson, pupils should be able to:

1. Define self-esteem as the value and respect one has for oneself.
2. Explain how having high self-esteem can protect someone from peer pressure to use drugs.
3. Mention two healthy ways to manage stressful feelings (like anger or sadness).
4. Describe the steps in good decision-making (thinking before acting).

CONTENT

1. Self-Awareness and Self-Esteem: Your Inner Shield

- Self-Awareness is knowing yourself—your strengths, your weaknesses, what you like, what you believe in.
- Self-Esteem is how much you value, respect, and believe in yourself. When you have high self-esteem:
 - You are proud of who you are.
 - You don't need drugs to feel "cool" or accepted by others.
 - You love yourself too much to put poison into your body.
 - You can say "NO" confidently because you know your worth.

2. Managing Emotions in Healthy Ways

Everyone feels sad, angry, lonely, or stressed sometimes. Drug abusers often use drugs to escape these feelings. Healthy people use coping skills.

- When you're sad or lonely: Talk to a friend, parent, or teacher. Write in a diary. Listen to your favorite music.
- When you're angry: Count to 10 slowly. Take deep breaths. Go for a walk or run. Play a sport. Tear up an old newspaper.
- When you're stressed (feeling pressure): Get enough sleep. Pray or meditate. Play with a pet. Draw or colour.

- Remember: It's okay to cry. Letting emotions out is healthier than bottling them up or covering them with drugs.

3. Stress Management

Stress is the feeling of being overwhelmed or under too much pressure (e.g., from exams, family issues, too many chores). Drugs are NOT a solution to stress. Healthy ways to manage stress include:

- Planning your time so you don't rush.
- Breaking big tasks into smaller steps.
- Asking for help when you need it.
- Doing relaxing activities you enjoy.

4. Decision-Making Skills: The "STOP and THINK" Method

Good decisions keep you safe. Before you do anything, especially if a friend is pressuring you, STOP and THINK.

- S - Stop. Don't act immediately.
- T - Think. What are my choices? What could happen?
- O - Options. What are the consequences (good and bad) of each choice?
- P - Plan/Pick. Choose the best option. Ask: "Is this safe?" "Will it make me proud?"
"What would my parents/teacher say?"

EVALUATION

1. How does loving and respecting yourself (high self-esteem) help you say no to drugs?
2. What are two things you can do the next time you feel very angry instead of getting into a fight?
3. Why is taking drugs to feel happy or forget problems a bad idea in the long run?
4. What does the "T" in the STOP method stand for? Why is this step important?
5. Your friend offers you a pill saying it will help you stay awake all night to study. Use the STOP method to explain what you should consider.
6. True or False: Only weak people feel sad or stressed.

ASSIGNMENT

1. (Written - Positive Self-Talk) Write down three positive statements about yourself. (e.g., "I am a good friend." "I am good at drawing." "I am kind to others.") Read them every morning.
2. (Activity List) Make a "My Happy & Healthy Choices" list. Write down 5 activities you can do when you're bored or upset that don't involve a screen (e.g., read a book, help cook, play football, draw, talk to grandma).
3. (Scenario) Write a paragraph about a time you made a good decision. What was the situation? What did you choose to do? What was the positive result?

WEEK 5 & 6: MIDTERM EXAMINATION AND BREAK

WEEK 7: PREVENTION OF DRUG ABUSE - LIFE COPING SKILLS II

OBJECTIVES By the end of the lesson, pupils should be able to:

1. Define assertiveness as standing up for yourself politely and firmly.
2. Demonstrate how to say "No" to negative peer pressure using clear "I" statements.
3. Explain what goal setting is and how having future goals can deter drug use.
4. State that asking for help when confused or pressured is a sign of strength, not weakness.

CONTENT

1. Communication and Assertiveness

- Assertiveness is the ability to express your feelings, opinions, and needs clearly, respectfully, and firmly without being aggressive (fighting) or passive (giving in silently).
- Why it matters: It is your best weapon against peer pressure (when friends try to get you to do something you don't want to do).

2. Peer Resistance: How to Say NO

You have the right to say no to anything that makes you uncomfortable or is wrong. Here's how:

- Use a firm voice and look them in the eye.
- Clear "I" Statements:
 - "I don't want to do that."
 - "I don't think that's a good idea."
 - "I have to go now."
- Suggest an Alternative (if you want): "No, I won't skip class. But we can play football together after school."
- Just Walk Away. You don't owe anyone a long explanation. If they keep pressuring you, leave the situation.

3. Goal Setting: Having a Future to Protect

A goal is something you plan to achieve in the future.

- Examples: "I want to be a doctor." "I want to play for the national football team." "I want to graduate with excellent grades."
- Connection to Drug Prevention: When you have big dreams, you protect your future. You know that drugs will destroy your brain, health, and chances of achieving those dreams. Your goal becomes a reason to say NO.

4. Seeking Help is a Strength

Some children think asking for help makes them look stupid or weak. This is wrong. Knowing when you need help and asking for it is a sign of maturity and intelligence.

- Who to ask: Parents, teachers, school counselors, coaches, or religious leaders.
- What to ask for help with: If you're feeling pressured, confused, very sad, or if you see a friend in trouble. You don't have to face everything alone. These adults have more experience and can guide you.

Be Assertive. Say NO. Walk Away.

EVALUATION

1. What is the difference between being "assertive" and being "aggressive"?

2. Practice: Your friend wants you to help them cheat on a test. Say your refusal using an "I" statement.
3. How can wanting to become a pilot in the future help you refuse an offer to smoke a cigarette today?
4. If you are being bullied online and don't know what to do, is it weak to tell your teacher? Explain your answer.
5. Why is "just walking away" sometimes the best response to peer pressure?
6. True or False: Real friends will get angry if you say no to something bad.

ASSIGNMENT

1. (Goal Setting) Write a "Future Me" letter. Date it. Write: "Dear Future Me, I am in Primary 5 now. My biggest goal is to become a _____. To achieve this, I will avoid drugs and focus on my studies. I will..."
2. (Role-play Practice) With a sibling or parent, practice saying NO to these offers: a) "Let's spray paint on the school wall." b) "Take this sweet from my bag, don't tell anyone."
3. (List) Write down the names and roles of three people in your school you could go to for help if you had a problem (e.g., Mrs. Alabi - Class Teacher, Mr. Bello - Guidance Counselor, Nurse Grace).

WEEK 8: NEIGHBOURHOOD SECURITY - ADVANCED

OBJECTIVES By the end of the lesson, pupils should be able to:

1. Define community policing as a partnership between the police and the community to fight crime.
2. Explain the importance of reporting suspicious activities to a trusted adult or authority.
3. Mention three practical security tips for keeping themselves and their homes safe.
4. State one basic rule of cyber security related to sharing personal information online.

CONTENT

1. Community Policing: Working Together for Safety

Community Policing is a strategy where the police and the people in a community work as partners to prevent and solve crime. It's not "us vs. them"; it's "us together."

- How it works: Police officers get to know the people in the neighbourhood. Community members share information about suspicious people or activities with the police they know and trust.
- Benefit: It creates a safer environment because criminals find it harder to operate when everyone is watching and cooperating with the police.

2. The Duty to Report (See Something, Say Something)

Your eyes and ears are important for security.

- Suspicious Activities: A stranger taking pictures of your school, someone trying car doors late at night, an unfamiliar loitering around, a bag left alone in a market.
- What to do: Do not confront them! Immediately tell your parent, guardian, a teacher, or a trusted neighbour. They can then alert the police if necessary. You can also know emergency numbers.
- Emergency Numbers in Nigeria: 112 is the general emergency number. You can also call 199 for police emergency.

3. Security Awareness and Vigilance at Home

Vigilance means being watchful and alert to danger.

- Home Security Tips:

- Always lock gates and doors, even when you are at home.
- Don't open the door for strangers. Use a peephole or ask who it is through a locked door. If you are home alone, don't let anyone know.
- Know your neighbours. A good neighbourhood is where people look out for each other.
- If you see or hear something suspicious at home (like a window breaking), hide safely first, then call a parent or neighbour for help.

4. Cyber Security Basics (Staying Safe Online)

Security isn't just outside; it's also on the internet (online).

- Personal Information is Private: Never share your full name, home address, school name, phone number, or passwords with strangers online.

- Stranger Danger Online: People can pretend to be children or friendly online. Never agree to meet someone you only know from the internet without a parent present.
- Passwords: Make them strong (mix letters, numbers). Never share them, not even with your best friend.
- Tell an Adult: If someone online makes you feel scared, uncomfortable, or asks for private pictures, stop talking to them and tell a trusted adult immediately.

EVALUATION

1. How does community policing make a neighbourhood safer than just having police patrols?
2. You see someone in a car slowly following children walking home from school. What should you do? What should you NOT do?
3. Why is it dangerous to post a picture of yourself in your school uniform on a public social media account?
4. What is one simple thing you can do every day to make your home less attractive to thieves?
5. Your online game friend asks for your phone number to "form a team." What should you say?
6. True or False: It's okay to use your pet's name as your password because it's easy to remember.

ASSIGNMENT

1. (Practical) With your parents, check the locks on your doors and windows. In your book, write: "We checked our home security on [date]. Our main door lock is strong/needs attention."
2. (Poster) Design a "Cyber Safety Rules" poster for your classroom. Include 3 rules (e.g., Keep Passwords Secret, Think Before You Post, Tell an Adult if You're Worried).
3. (Family Discussion) Ask your family what the agreed plan is if there is a fire, a strange knock at the door, or if you get separated in a market. Write down one key point from the discussion.

WEEK 9: CHILD RIGHTS AND PROTECTION

OBJECTIVES By the end of the lesson, pupils should be able to:

1. Mention at least three basic rights that every child in Nigeria has.
2. Explain what the right to "protection from abuse" means, giving examples.
3. Identify who to contact (trusted adults and helplines) if their rights are violated.
4. List two organizations in Nigeria that work to protect children.

CONTENT

1. Your Rights as a Child

In 2003, Nigeria passed the Child Rights Act. This law says that every person below the age of 18 is a child and has special rights for their protection and development.

- Right to Life, Survival, and Development: You have the right to live and grow up healthy.
- Right to a Name and Nationality: You have the right to a name and to be a citizen of a country.
- Right to Education: You have the right to go to school and learn.
- Right to Health Care: You have the right to see a doctor when you are sick and to get vaccines to prevent disease.
- Right to Play and Rest: You have the right to relax, play, and participate in cultural activities.
- Right to be Protected from Harm: This is a very important one (explained next).

2. Right to Protection from Abuse

Abuse means being treated in a way that causes harm or distress. No one has the right to abuse you. Types of abuse include:

- Physical Abuse: Being beaten, kicked, burned, or injured in any way that leaves marks or pain.

- Sexual Abuse: When an adult or older person touches your private body parts, shows you theirs, or takes pictures of you in a bad way. This is always wrong, even if it's someone you know.
- Emotional Abuse: Being constantly shouted at, called bad names, bullied, or made to feel worthless and unloved.
- Neglect: When those responsible for you fail to provide food, clothing, shelter, medical care, or education.
- Child Labour: Being forced to do heavy, dangerous work that stops you from going to school or playing.

3. Speaking Up and Getting Help

If anyone abuses you or makes you feel unsafe:

- IT IS NOT YOUR FAULT.
- SPEAK OUT IMMEDIATELY. Tell a trusted adult—your parent, teacher, school counselor, or a relative you feel safe with.
- Keep Telling until someone listens and helps you.
- Helplines: There are telephone numbers you can call for help. One example is the NAPTIP Child Help Desk.

4. Organizations that Protect Children

- UNICEF (United Nations Children's Fund): A global organization that works in Nigeria to protect children's rights to health, education, and protection.
- NAPTIP (National Agency for the Prohibition of Trafficking in Persons): A Nigerian government agency that fights against human trafficking and child labour. They rescue and help children.
- Ministry of Women Affairs and Social Development: At state and federal levels, they work on policies to protect women and children.

EVALUATION

1. Which right gives you the opportunity to become a doctor, engineer, or teacher in the future?
2. Your neighbour's child is always carrying heavy loads at the market instead of being in school. Which child right is being violated?
3. What should you do if an uncle or aunty touches you in a way that makes you feel confused and uncomfortable?
4. Why is it important to keep telling an adult if the first person you tell doesn't believe you or help you?
5. What does UNICEF do for children in Nigeria?
6. True or False: A parent has the right to beat a child so severely that the child is injured and bleeding.

ASSIGNMENT

1. (Poster Creation) Create a poster titled "I Know My Rights!" List 4 child rights in your own words and add small drawings.
2. (Trust Circle) Draw a large circle. Inside it, write the names of the 5 people you trust the most to protect you and help you if you are in trouble.
3. (Research/Discussion) Ask your teacher or parent: "Has our state fully adopted the Child Rights Act?" Just have the discussion to raise awareness.

WEEK 10: INTRODUCTION TO HUMAN TRAFFICKING

OBJECTIVES By the end of the lesson, pupils should be able to:

1. Define human trafficking as the illegal trade of people for exploitation.
2. State the key difference between trafficking (force/deceit) and migration (choice).
3. Identify two common forms of human trafficking (child labour, sexual exploitation).
4. Mention two "red flag" warning signs that a trafficker might use to trick a child.

CONTENT

1. What is Human Trafficking?

Human Trafficking is a modern form of slavery. It is the illegal business of buying, selling, or transporting people (men, women, and children) by force, fraud, or deception to exploit them. Traffickers are criminals who trick people with false promises.

2. Trafficking vs. Migration: Know the Difference

- Migration: When a person chooses freely to move to another city or country for better opportunities, education, or work. They have proper travel documents and can return home.

- Trafficking: When a person is forced, tricked, or coerced (pressured) into moving. Their passport is often taken away. They are forced to work without pay, treated cruelly, and cannot leave. They are victims, not migrants.

3. Forms of Human Trafficking

Traffickers exploit people in different ways:

- Forced Labour: Victims are forced to work on farms, in factories, in mines, or as house helps with little or no pay. Child labour is a major form of this.
- Sexual Exploitation: Victims, especially women and girls, are forced into prostitution or pornography.
- Child Begging: Children are sometimes deliberately maimed (hurt) and forced to beg on the streets, and the money is taken by the trafficker.
- Baby Factories: Young girls and women are held captive and forced to have babies who are then sold.

4. Warning Signs and Safety Rules

Traffickers often pretend to be helpful. Be alert to these "red flags":

- Too-Good-To-Be-True Offers: A stranger or distant relative promises you a fantastic job, a modelling career, or free education in a big city or abroad very quickly.
- Secrecy: They ask you to keep the plan a secret from your parents or teachers. ("Don't tell anyone, it's our secret.")
- Taking Control: They offer to handle all your travel arrangements and ask to keep your passport or birth certificate.
- Safety Rules:
 - a. Never go anywhere with a stranger, even if they offer gifts or money.
 - b. Always tell your parents where you are going and with whom.
 - c. Remember: Real opportunities don't require secrecy from your family.

EVALUATION

1. What is the main goal of a human trafficker?
2. How is someone who is trafficked different from someone who migrates to another country for university?
3. What is "forced labour"? Give one example.
4. Why is an offer that requires you to keep secrets from your parents a major warning sign?
5. What should you do if a neighbour you don't know well says she can take you to Lagos to become a movie star?
6. True or False: Human trafficking only happens to girls, not boys.

ASSIGNMENT

1. (Research) Write the full meaning of NAPTIP. What is their toll-free helpline number? (You can ask a teacher or parent to help you find it: 0800CALLNAPTIP).
2. (Creative) Design a wristband or badge with a short, powerful message against human trafficking (e.g., "NOT FOR SALE", "I AM A CHILD, NOT A COMMODITY").
3. (Family Pledge) Discuss with your parents a "family code word." This is a secret word only your family knows. If someone ever says they were sent by your parents to pick you up, they must know the code word. Write the code word in your book (keep it secret!).

WEEK 11: REVISION

This week is dedicated to revising, clarifying, and consolidating all key concepts from Term 3 (weeks 1-10) in preparation for the final examination and transition to Primary 6.

1. Review of Key Topics

A quick recap of our major themes:

- Money Management: Earning, Saving, Spending. Banking services, ATM safety, protecting your money.
- Drug Abuse: Physical & behavioral signs, effects on health and school, psychological impact, importance of early help, prevention through life skills (self-esteem, decision-making, assertiveness, goal setting).
- Security: Community policing, reporting suspicious activities, home security, cyber safety basics.
- Child Rights: Basic rights under the Child Rights Act, protection from abuse, where to get help.
- Human Trafficking: Definition, difference from migration, forms, warning signs, safety rules.

2. Interactive Revision Activities

- "What's the Right Choice?"
- Game: Teacher gives scenarios (e.g., "A friend offers you a pill for energy." "An online friend asks for your address.") Pupils shout out the safe choice.
- Role-Play: Practice assertive refusals and reporting to an adult.
- Acronym Recap: ATM, PIN, NDLEA, UNICEF, NAPTIP. What do they stand for?
- Quick Quiz Bowl: Teams compete to answer questions from all topics.

3. Examination Preparation Tips

- Focus on the application of knowledge: "What would you do if...?"
- Review the safety rules and steps for getting help—these are crucial for life.

- Be ready to explain concepts in your own words with examples.
- Stay calm and confident. You have learned important life skills.

EVALUATION (A series of mixed, application-based questions to be conducted orally or in a short written quiz).

1. You receive ₦500 as a gift. What is one responsible way to use it that involves both spending and saving?
2. Describe two ways you could boost your self-esteem without using drugs or alcohol.
3. You see a man taking photos of the school fence every day. What is the safe and responsible thing to do?
4. If a teacher constantly uses a cane to beat a pupil until they bruise, which child right is being violated? Who should the pupil tell?
5. How is having a future goal like wanting to be an engineer a form of self-protection against traffickers?

ASSIGNMENT

1. (Study) Create a "Personal Safety Plan" on one page. Have sections for: My Trusted Adults, Emergency Numbers, My Goals, How I Say NO.
2. (Reflective Writing) Write a short paragraph: "The most important thing I learned this term is _____ because it will help me _____."
3. (Preparation) Organize your Term 3 notes. Thank your teacher for the knowledge and get a good rest before your exams. You are ready!
